

Research Project Grants Scheme 2013

This Research Project Grants (RPG) Scheme is designed with the objective of facilitating researchers and research teams to build capacity in their research area by way of stimulus project grants and knowledge transfer initiatives. The rationale for this scheme is to provide funding for researchers to enable them to expand their research activities and become competitive for International Funding Opportunities. This is being facilitated through:

- Small-medium sized projects such as exploratory investigations which may lead to larger and more sustainable research projects and programmes;
- Research staff;
- Knowledge transfer initiatives;
- Networking and collaboration on national or international levels.

It is also recognised that taking new directions in research may require the development of new research skills or new methodological approaches.
